BRainerd's NEW INDUSTRIES.

The Northwestern Lumberman Gives Our

City and the Northwest a Write-Up.

Under date of June 14th, Mr. A. E.

Hayden writes the above paper as follows:

About the first of March, 1894,

came out the first news of the immense sale of lumber by the Walley and Pillsbury interests to the new company that was thereafter to be known as the Minnesota Logging

Company. The individuals making up the new company were E. P. Walley, J. E. Carpenter, C. H. Clinton,

Iowa; C. F. Welles, of Lyons, Iowa;

E. W. Backus, B. F. Nelson, W. M.

Tenney, E. L. Carpenter, David Willard, W. F. Brooks, S. J. Carpenter,

J. W. H. H. and L. A. Day, E. J.

Carpenter, C. H. Lamb, Geo. Cook, A.

E. Horst, and R. C. Leavitt of Minneapolis.

The organization was not completed until about the middle of April

when the company was incorporated with an authorized capital of $500,

000. The company has already passed through a year of life and the officers of the company for the present year are:

E. P. Wells, president.

J. E. Carpenter, vice president and general manager.

E. L. Carpenter, treasurer.

W. F. Brooks, secretary.

Sam Simpson, manager of logging operations.

The timber purchased by the company is located mainly in Cass county, in the neighborhood of Cass and Leech lakes, and amounts to something like 1,500,000 feet of saw log,

and saw-pine. There is enough pine here to keep the company cutting for from fifteen to twenty years.

The main operations of the company are over the line of the Brainerd

& Northern Minnesota railway. The logs are hauled and skidded at points

favorable for the building of spur tracks and the railroad then takes them to Brainerd where they are distributed to the mill and to the boom

company which drives them to the mills at Minneapolis.

During the past winter there have been cut by this company about one hundred and twenty-eight million

feet of logs, the largest ever made by any one company. A large part of these have already been hauled to Brainerd and dumped into the Mississippi. There are still millions of feet in the various streams and lakes

that will be hauled out during the summer, or driven down the streams

into the main river. The company

now has two thousand machines

that are at work at Pine Mountain lake and are loading about one hundred and fifty cars per day. They are soon to buy two more loading apparatus, and it is thought that this will increase their loading capacity to about two hundred and fifty cars

per day.

During the winter the logs can be dumped on the ground landing at

Brainerd and go into the river right

but for a summer landing the company has just completed a track

RAILROAD EMPLOYEES WILL PUNIC.

The Annual Outing of the N. P. R. R. Employees Takes Place June 26.

For ten consecutive years the Northern Pacific road has given its employees an annual outing, furnishing transportation for all who desired to attend and this year will be no exception to the rule, Wednesday next, June

26th, having been fixed for the date

and a splendid time is anticipated.

The excursion will be to Detroit this year and a better place could not have been selected. The arrangements have all been completed and the following

programme outlined:

Base ball, Brainerd vs. Staples, for a purse of $10.

Bicycle race, 500 yards, free for all,

$100.

Boys' running race, sixteen years,

100 yards, first prize $2, second $1.

Standing long jump, free for all, $2.

Three-legged race, boys 16 years,

25 yards, first prize $2, second $1.

Girls running race, under 14 years,

50 yards, first prize $2, second $1.

Men's race, 100 yards, free for all,

first prize $3, second $2.

None but railroad employes can participate in the games for prizes.

The city band and Dressell's orchestra will accompany the party and furnish the music. Two trains will be necessary to carry the people, section one leaving Staples at 6 a. m. and section two leaving Brainerd at 6:30.

The drowsy citizen will be awakened at 4 a. m. by a furious cannonading. The train will be fully decorated efforts in having a good time. The officers in charge are David L. Cohen, president; Charles McCarthy, secretary; Thomas Mooney, treasurer.

The Passing Show.

The World's Best Show is coming.

An exchange, in speaking of the Show, says: "From start to finish it is a clean, bright show. The Menagerie contains more rare animals

than any show ever in this part of the country, as the Lemen Brothers are out-doing all their old rivals competing by securing the rarest and most costly animals in the world. Their foreign agent secured the great Rajah,

the largest elephant that walks the earth. He is actually two inches taller than the famous Jumbo, and weighs several tons more. This feature alone is worth hundreds of miles to see.

The circus performance was simply grand. It was given by 100

most equestrian and acrobatic artists.

The hippodrome was very realistic and the horses were speedy, and on the whole it was the best show ever here." Will exhibit at Brainerd on July 3rd.

Brainerd Dispatch.

BRainerd, MINN.
W. H. HARVEY, author of "Com's Financial School," has accepted the challenge to meet Honorable Roosevelt G. Harr of New York in debate. The time and place of debate have not yet been selected.

"House-nerve" is the simple but comprehensive term used by English medical authorities to express the morbid condition which overtakes people who have too little out-door exercise and air.

When Prince Bismarck speaks of "the dreamer who produces nothing but laws," he uses a phrase that will survive. But if these dreamers were less industrious in the making of laws the world might be better off.

Some foreign Catholics in Connecticut petitioned Mr. Sattoli for a priest who could speak their language, and he has replied that if they wish to be American citizens they must learn and use the language of the country. He would sell for the courts to adopt this rule as to applicants for naturalization.

It is often said that the best place to find the France of the seventeenth century is in the Province of Quebec. The old church spires there make the right angle between the introduction of electric roads, and the position is by no means willing to give way to the modern.

Within the last week the University of Pennsylvania has received two gifts of $500,000 each from public-spirited citizens, and the resulting seventeen made that Oberlin College in Ohio to be provided with a large gymnasium and a building for scientific research by two residents of New York City. The year 1885 will break the record in benefactions of this kind.

The Sultan of Morocco, has found his office too much for him, and has announced his intention of retiring, for the simple reason that it is impossible for him to maintain order and law. This will probably mean Spanish rule in the African province, as Spain can hardly afford to allow any other power to come into control, troublesome as she would find this new responsibility.

The block between Mulberry and Baxter streets in New York is to be converted into a park, and the buildings were sold at auction last week, bringing a total of $800. One three-story brick tenement with a store was knocked down for $75,000. The other buildings were sold at $10,000 each, and made a bonfire of them for sanitary reasons.

Herbert Spencer has declined the appointment of Knights of the Order of Merit, proffered by the German Emperor, on the ground that his opinions will not permit him to accept. The philosopher is not in favor of militarism, and though he must feel lone in Europe, he will stand by his convictions.

A weather observer at Philadelphia says the first nine days of May give an average daily excess of heat of 11 degrees. On the ensuing seventeen days the average daily excess of heat was 7 degrees. Then the temperature lurched up again with an average daily excess of 12 degrees of heat for the remainder of the month. Such violent fluctuations are rare, and if they continue the weather of 1885 will be a livelier topic than is desirable.

John L. Sullivan's English may be cloudy, but nobody can say that it is not picturesque. John declared to a New York Herald reporter the other day that he was "flat broke-flat." On being asked if he meant to say he was absolutely penniless, he replied: "Well, it's like this, I might want to blow you, but I ain't got the stuff to do it. See?" If John had not used his "stuff" in blows of a liquid character he might now have more stuff for pugilistic blows in the ring. John is right when he says that he is "has been."

A law known as the Harvey act has been passed by the legislature of Pennsylvania with the object of promoting the use of wide tires on heavy wagons. It provides that those owning and using drag wagons with tires less than four inches in width for hauling loads of not less than 2000 pounds shall receive a rebate of one-fourth of their assessed highway tax, the rebate not to exceed five days' labor on the roads in any one year. This is only a modest step in the maintenance of good roads, but nevertheless one to be commended.

The growth of public libraries in the United States is one of the remarkable features of our country of progress. There are now nearly 200 of them, and a recent report shows that the significant fact that with the single exception of the county, there is not a single civil division of our government that has not adopted this form of educational service. The nation, the states, the cities, and towns have libraries for general use, and the regular professors with equipments of systematic study and training.

The fire loss in Berlin last year was only $150,000. The fire department in the German capital does not seem to compare with our fire departments in this country, and there is no reason why it should. Building in Berlin must be fire-proof, and the system of inspection is rigid. The population of Berlin is over 1,500,000 so that the fire loss in 1884, was only 10c per capita. The fire loss in the United States last year was $125,000,000, or $2.25 per capita for 55,000,000 people. That such a difference can exist, and even attract little attention, is one of the puzzles of civilization.

J. Henrick Heaton, M. P., has written an article in which he advocates a cable penny post. He would cut the present cost of a cablegram from a shilling a word to a penny a word. At a penny a word, the cablegram would be a word to a penny a word. The number of words now sent at an annual cost of $5,000,000 to the public could be handled by two cables, and these could be paid for $250,000 each. He thinks the two governments should take hold of the subject, and that it would find the business very profitable at a word.

BRAINERD, MINN.

W. H. Harvey, author of "Con's R. H. Harvey," has accepted a large fee to meet Honorable R. H. Harvey of New York in debate. The time and place of debate have not as yet been selected.

"House-nerve" is the simple but comprehensive term used by English medical authorities to express the morbid condition which overtakes people who have too little outdoor exercise and air.

When Prince Bismarck speaks of "the drones who produce nothing but laws," he uses a phrase that will survive. But if these drones were less industrious in the passage of laws the world might be better off.

Some foreign Catholics in Connecticut petitioned Mr. Sattoli for a priest who could speak their language, and he has replied that if they wish to be American citizens they must learn and use the language of the country. It would be well for the courts to adopt this rule as to applicants for naturalization.

It is often said that the best place to find the France of the seventeenth century is in the Province of Quebec. The old coach lines there are making a fight against the introduction of electric roads, and the position is by no means willing to give way to the modern.

Within the last week the University of Pennsylvania has received two gifts of $50,000 each from public-spirited citizens, and the announcement is made that Oberlin College is to be provided with a large gymnasium and a building for scientific research by two residents of New York City. The year 1885 will break the record in benefactions of this kind.

The sultan of Morocco, has found his office too much for him, and has announced his intention of retiring, for the simple reason that it is impossible for him to maintain order.

This will probably mean Spanish rule in the African province, as Spain can hardly afford to allow any other power to come into control, troublesome as she would find this new responsibility.

The block between Mulberry and Baxter streets in New York is to be converted into a park, and the buildings were sold at auction last week, bringing a total of $100,000. One three-story brick tenement with a store front for $275, and another house was knocked down for $7. The city ought to have carried the rookeries off and made a bonfire of them for sanitary reasons.

Herbert Spencer has declined the appointment of Knights of the Order of Merit, proffered by the German emperor, on the ground that his opinions will not permit him to accept. The philosopher is not in favor of militarism, and though he must favor someone in Europe, he will stand by his convictions.

A weather observer at Philadelphia says the first nine days of May gave an average daily excess of ten to 11 degrees. On the ensuing seventeen days the average daily excess of cold was 7 degrees. Then the temperature lurched up again with an average daily excess of 12 degrees of heat for the remainder of the month. Such violent fluctuations are rare, and if they continue the weather of 1885 will be a livelier topic than is desirable.

John L. Sullivan's English may be cloudy, but nobody can say that it is not picturesque. John declared to a New York Herald reporter the other day that he was "flat broke—flat." On being asked if he meant to say he was absolutely penniless, John replied: "Well, it's like this, I might want to blow you, but I ain't got the stuff to do it. See?" If John had not used his "stuff" in blows of a liquid character he might now have more stuff for pugilistic blows in the ring. John is right when he says that he is "a has been."

A law known as the Harvey act has been passed by the legislature of Pennsylvania with the object of promoting the use of wide tires on heavy wagons. It provides that those owning and using draft wagons with tires not less than four inches in width for more than 100 feet in length shall receive a rebate of one-fourth of their assessed highway tax, the rebate not to exceed five days' labor on the roads in any one year. This is only a modest step in the maintenance of good roads, but nevertheless one to be commended.

The growth of public libraries in the United States is one of the remarkable features of our system of progress. There are now nearly 5,000 of them, and a recent writer points out the significant fact with the single exception of the city of New York, no single city has not adopted this form of educational service. The nation, the states, the cities, and towns have libraries for general use, and the work of the librarian has become a regular profession, with requirements of systematic study and training.

The fire loss in Berlin last year was only $150,000. The fire department in the German capital does not begin to compare with one in a large American city, and there is no reason why it should. Building in Berlin must be fireproof, and the system of insurance is rigid. The population of Berlin is over 1,500,000, so that the fire loss in 1894, was only 10¢ per capita. The fire loss in the United States last year was $125,000,000 people, or $2.25 per capita for 55,000,000 people. That such a difference can exist and even attract little attention, is one of the puzzles of civilized society.

J. Hamilton Houston, M. P., has written an article in which he advocates a cheap penny post. He would cut the present cost of a cablegram from a shilling a word to a penny a word. The number of words cabled between America and England last year was 25,000,000 while the twelve cables in operation have a capacity of 28,000,000 words a year. The number of words now sent at an annual cost of $5,000,000 to the public could be handled by two cables, and these could be paid for $2,500,000 each. Mr. Houston thinks the two governments should take hold of the subject, and that they would find the business profitable at 2¢ a word.

W. L. Hilgedick, the St. Paul man

Hilgedick claims to be having a very hard time of it and asks Secretary Berg to be allowed to purchase
a canoe and hire a man to paddle it.
He says that there are only water roads through that part of the county and that in summer all traveling is done in canoes. Mr. Berg made some inquiries in regard to the matter and as a result sent a letter to the gentleman instructing him that his re-

Steamboat on Leech Lake.

A correspondence writes the Minneapolis Journal from Lohrport that the steamer Mohawk, purchased by J. J.
Frost from the owners on Gull lake,
was launched on Sunday last and she is chartered for freight and passenger service. This is the first steamboat on Leech lake, and any point on the lake can be reached with comfort and safety. The application of steam opens up grand possibilities for the settlement of this beautiful country,
as heretofore Leech lake with its 400
miles of shore, offered serious obstacles to the settlement of lands lying on the south shore of the lake. As a pleasure resort Leech lake is destined to far surpass any lake in the northwest.

The laying of steel on the extension of the Brainerd & Northern Minnesota

railroad from Lohrport to the south arm of Leech lake commenced Tuesday with Roadmaster John Shores in charge, and one mile of steel a day man's. The Literary Society have an excellent program and other choice features will be presented, among

Your correspondent would call the attention of the county commissioners to the fact that in one or two instances they have been imposed upon by people from this vicinity who applied and received aid from the county while the said parties were able to take care of themselves and their families, in fact, were able to buy quite a quantity of stock at the time aid was given.

Such men should be sent to the poor farm instead of being encouraged in their efforts to make the tax-payers support them. U. N. O.

Much interest is being manifested in the coming tournament which occurs on Thursday and Friday of next week, June 27th and 28th, and Secretary Maynard is in receipt of communications from shooters in various parts of the Northwest regarding it, the probabilities being that it will be the most largely attended and most successful of any held in Minnesota this year.

The Jeffersons.
On Saturday evening the Jefferson Dramatic Club will present "Caprice" at the Sleeper opera house, and from present indications every seat will be occupied on that occasion, as the tickets are going rapidly. Those who have tickets should get them reserved at the McFadden Drug Co.'s store at once. The entertainment will be in every way worthy the patronage of our citizens and none can afford to miss it. The curtain will not rise until 9 o'clock in order to give all a chance to transact their usual Saturday evening business and still be in time for the beginning of the first act. If you are not already in possession of a ticket buy one at once.

Gets a Canoe and a Man.

W. L. Hilgiedick, the St. Paul man who is taking the census of northern Cass county will be right in it from this on, according to the following:

Hilgiedick claims to be having a very hard time of it and asks Secretary Berg to be allowed to purchase a canoe and hire a man to paddle it. He says that there are only winter roads through that part of the county and that in summer all traveling is done in canoes. Mr. Berg made some inquiries in regard to the matter and as a result sent a letter to the gentleman instructing him that his request had been granted and that the bureau would allow him expenses for a canoe and a man to operate it.

Steamboat on Leech Lake.

A correspondent writes the Minneapolis Journal from Lathrop that the steamer Mohawk, purchased by J. J. Frost from the owners on Gull lake, was launched on Sunday last and she is chartered for freight and passenger service. This is the first steamboat on Leech lake, and any point on the lake can be reached with comfort and safety. The application of steam opens up grand possibilities for the settlement of this beautiful country, as heretofore Leech lake with its 400 miles of shore, offered serious obstacles to the settlement of lands lying on the south shore of the lake. As a pleasure resort Leech lake is destined to far surpass any lake in the northwest.

The laying of steel on the extension of the Brainerd & Northern Minnesota railroad from Lathrop to the south arm of Leech lake commenced Tuesday with Roadmaster John Shores in charge, and one mile of steel a day will be laid.

Garrison News Items.

Great preparations are being made here for the celebration of the Fourth, which will take place at J. F. Dykeman's. The Literary Society have an excellent programme and other choice features will be presented, among which will be a ball game and a grand dance in the evening.

Your correspondent would call the attention of the county commissioners to the fact that in one or two instances they have been imposed upon by people from this vicinity who applied and received aid from the county while the said parties were able to take care of themselves and their families, in fact, were able to buy quite a quantity of stock at the time aid was given. Such men should be sent to the poor farm instead of being encouraged in their efforts to make the tax-payers support them.

The Ocean Trolley.

One of the most brilliant ideas which this century has produced is now suggested by a Yankee, who has found that crossing the Atlantic in the ordinary way by boat does not agree with him. Whether it is practical or not time alone will show. Briefly his proposition is to span the Atlantic with a trolley rope. "To sit looking out of your cab window far above the surface of the raging and impotent sea, skipping along at electric speed and darning the waves to do their worst—that would be bliss." Owing to the curvature of the earth's surface it would be impossible under any circumstances to do without supports, and supports in the ordinary sense of the word, would be out of the question. It is manifest that there is only one plan by which such a wire could be carried. The two ends must be fastened, one in London and the other in New York, while from coast to coast two lines of balloons could be stationed of sufficient strength to keep the wire raised as far above the level of the sea as you require. To the ordinary intellect it is not apparent what would keep the balloons from blowing away in the midst of a raging storm. To the originator, however, this is simple enough. "The trolley would, of course,"—New York Dispatch.

Women and Fishing.

Shocking it is to be compelled to state that many fishing superstitions are ungalantly directed against the ladies. Over against Ross there is the island of Lewis, 60 miles in length. In this island there is but one fresh river. "Fish abound there in very great plenty," but only let a woman wade in the stream, and not a salmon will be seen there for at least 12 months. There is a song about "Eliza's Tootsies," but that immortal lyric does not explain why they should frighten the fish. I believe the ladies deny the allegation in toto. In the south of Ireland an angler proceeding to fish declares that he will have no luck if he is asked where he is going to, if he sees a magpie or "if he is so unfortunate as to meet a woman."—London Fishing Gazette.

Smokes Cigarettes Now.

He regarded himself as very English, and he certainly was very young. He fancied that he cut an imposing figure as he sauntered past the theater just as the matinee girls emerged on the street. But a large, coarse man who was going by spoiled it all by remarking in a loud voice:

"Hello, Willie! What are you going to do with that pipe? Going to blow soap bubbles?"

And now there is one more young man in Buffalo who will never again smoke a pipe on the street.—Buffalo Express.

Dust In One's Eyes.

To "cast dust in one's eyes" perfectly explains itself. It is, however, interesting to know that Epaminondas at the battle of Tegen defeated the Spartans by masking his movements with a large body of cavalry. He caused the horsemen to gallop to and fro in front of the enemy in such a way as to raise a cloud of dust and so veiled the movements of his infantry and enabled them to take up a new and more advantageous position.

W. H. HARVEY, author of "Constitutional School," has accepted the challenge to meet Honorable Russell G. Horr of New York in debate. The time and place of debate have not as yet been selected.

"House-nerves" is the simple but comprehensive term used by English medical authorities to express the morbid condition in the nervous system which has little or no motor exercise and air.

When Prince Bismarck speaks of "the drones who produce nothing but laws," he uses a phrase that will survive. But if these drones were not to survive, the nation would have the world might be better off.

Some foreign Catholics in Connecticut petitioned Mr. Sattoli for a priest who could speak their language, and he has replied that if they wish to be American citizens they must learn and use the language of the country. It would be well for the courts to adopt this rule as to applicants for naturalization.

It is often said that the last place to find the France of the seventeenth century is in the Province of Quebec. The old coach lines there are making a fight against the automobile, but the roads and the position is by no means willing to give way to the new normal.

Within the last week the University of Pennsylvania has received two gifts of $500,000 each from public-spirited citizens, and the announcement is made that Oberlin College has provided with a large gymnasium and a building for scientific research by two residents of New York City. The year 1895 will break the record in benefactions of this kind.

The sultan of Morocco, has found his office too much for him, and has announced his intention of resigning. The sultan desires that it is impossible for him to maintain order and law. This will probably mean Spanish rule in the African province, as Spain can hardly afford to allow any other power to come into control, troublesome as she would find this new responsibility.

The block between Monterey and Baxter streets in New York City is to be converted into a park, and the buildings were sold at auction last week, bringing a total of $800. One three-story brick tenement with a store was for $275, and another house was knocked down for $7. The city ought to have carted the rockeries off and made a bonfire of them for sanitary reasons.

Herbert Spencer has declined the appointment of Knights of the Order of Merit, proffered by the German Emperor, on the ground that his opinions will not permit him to accept. The philosopher is not in favor of militarism in Europe, and though he must feel lone some in Europe, he will stand by his convictions.

A weather observer at Philadelphia says the first nine days of May gave an average daily excess of heat of 11 degrees. On the ensuing seventeen days the average daily excess of cold was 7 degrees. Then the temperature lurched up again with an average daily excess of 12 degrees of heat for the remainder of the month. Such violent fluctuations are rare, and if they continue, the weather of 1895 will be a livelier topic than is desirable.

John L. Sullivan's English may be cloudy, but nobody can say that it is not picturesque. John declared to a New York Herald reporter the other day that he was "that broke 'd." On being asked if he meant to say he was absolutely penniless, he replied: "Well, it's like this. I might want to blow you, but I ain't got the stuff to do it. See?" If John had not used his "stuff" in blows of a liquid character he might now have money enough to prosecute the man in the ring. John is right when he says that he is a "has been."

A law known as the Harvey act has been passed by the legislature of Pennsylvania with the object of promoting the use of wide tires on heavy wagons. It provides that no person shall use a wagon with less than three inches in width for hauling loads of not less than 2,000 pounds shall receive a rebate of one-fourth of their assessed highway tax, the rebate not to exceed five days' labor on the roads in any one year. This is only a modest step for protection of good roads, but nevertheless it is only a modest step.

The growth of public libraries in the United States is one of the remarkable features of our modern progress. There are now nearly 5,000 of them; and a recent writer points out the significant fact that with the single exception of the county, there is not a single civil division of our government that has not adopted this form of educational service. The nation, the states, the cities, and towns have libraries for general use, and the work of the libraries has become a regular profession, with requirements of systematic study and training.

The fire loss in Berlin last year was only $150,000. The fire department in Germany capital does not begin to compare with one in a large American city, and there is no reason why it should. Building in Berlin must be fire-proof, and the system of inspection is rigid. The population of Berlin is over 1,500,000 so that the fire loss in 1894, was only 10c per capita.

The fire loss in the United States last year was $125,000,000, or $2.25 per capita for 70,000,000 people. That such a difference can exist, and even attract little attention, is one of the puzzles of civilized society.

J. Henrick Heaton, M. P., has written an article in which he advocates a cable penny post. He would cut the present cost of a cablegram from a shilling a word to a penny a word. The number of words sent between America and England last year was 25,000,000 while the twelve cables in operation have a capacity of 285,000,000 words a year. The number of words now sent at an annual cost of $5,000,000 to the public could be handled by two cables, and even be paid for $2,500,000 each.

It is thought that the government should take hold of the subject, and that they would find the business very profitable at 2c a word.
